THIRD PACIFIC RIM CONFERENCE ON EDUCATION

“Teacher Education and Professional Development”

July 7 and 8, 2012

Hokkaido University of Education, Sapporo, JAPAN

+++++

Hokkaido University of Education, in partnership with Illinois State University (USA), will host the Third Pacific Rim Conference on Education from July 7th-8th, 2012, in Sapporo, Japan.

The mission of the Pacific Rim Conference on Education is to offer a less formal forum for researchers and educators to get together and present ideas and work, thus contributing to the understanding of the current issues on education in the Pacific Rim area and the other parts of the world.

The third Pacific Rim Conference on Education welcomes papers that address issues on education in teacher education and professional development. We particularly welcome proposals for special sessions on the following topics:

1. School Management
2. Elementary School Education
3. Special Education

The topics in the Pacific Rim Conference on Education also include but are not confined to the following:

Mathematics, Languages, Science, Social Studies, Kinesiology, Health, Psychology, Philosophy, School Curriculum, etc.

The official language of the Conference is English. However, the special session 1, School Management, will be a bilingual session (English/Japanese). The conference interpreters will translate English to Japanese and Japanese to English during the session.
